

Use mail archive

To be able to archive emails, you must first install an mail-archive.

You can define which email addresses are archived in various places:

- Email Domain
- Email Mailbox
- Email Alias

Email Domain

You can set archiving for an email domain or disable archiving.

Of course you can override this setting for individual accounts or aliases.

Domain:

Mail-Archiv:

As soon as you have selected a mail archive for an email domain, all email accounts and email aliases are automatically archived.

Please note: If you use the domain settings for email accounts and later deactivate archiving for the mail domain or select a different archive, this immediately affects all mailboxes and their alias addresses that use the domain settings.

Email Mailbox

For an email mailbox, you can use the domain settings, set a specific archive or disable archiving.

Name:

* Email: @

Mail-Archive:

Password:

Password strength:

Repeat Password:

2

Email Alias

If you want to change the archiving for an alias address, you can either use the settings of the corresponding mailbox or disable it.

* Email:

Destination:

Active:

Send as: